RACING AND BREEDING OVERSEAS HORSES IN AUSTRALIA

The procedures that owners/trainers of overseas horses have to follow when they bring their horse to race/breed in Australia differ, depending on how long the horse plans to reside in Australia and whether or not it already has a name. To ensure that you fill out all of the appropriate forms and follow the necessary procedures, please refer to the heading relevant to your horse/s.

Please note that in accordance with the Australian Rule of Racing AR.60 you must notify the local handicappers of your horse's form. This should include Total Starts, Date of Last Start and Total Prize money earned overseas.

Unnamed overseas horses

Import application
An import application must be submitted upon each entry in to Australia to the Australian Stud Book.

Horse identification
When the import application and fee is received, the ASB will send an identification kit to be completed by an ASB approved veterinarian.  Upon acceptance of satisfactory identification and receipt of the Stud Book Certificate of Exportation from the overseas authority, the horse will be eligible for registration.

Application for Registration
An application for Registration is available at https://racingaustralia.horse/RoR/RegisterHorse.aspx An owner can be a natural person, registered syndicate, company, firm or stud (to race in the ownership of a company, firm or stud, these entities must be registered as a syndicate with the PRA in the state in which the horse will race).

Named overseas horses – to be trained by an Australian Trainer

If the current name is not available in Australia, a name change will need to apply.

Named overseas horses – to be trained by an Overseas Trainer

Import application
An import application must be submitted upon each entry in to Australia to the Australian Stud Book.

Application for Temporary Registration
An application for Registration is available at https://racingaustralia.horse/RoR/RegisterHorse.aspx An owner can be a natural person, registered syndicate, company, firm or stud (to race in the ownership of a company, firm or stud, these entities must be registered as a syndicate with the PRA in the state in which the horse will race).

If the current name is not available in Australia, a name change will need to apply.

The person responsible for the horse in Australia needs to provide a copy of the Registration Certificate or Passport to the Registrar of Racehorses' office.

Upon receipt of the Racing Clearance from the overseas authority together with prior racing form the horse will be endorsed as a temporary visitor for racing by Racing Australia.

If the horse is transferred to an Australian trainer or retires to breeding in Australia, the temporary visa will be reverted to a permanent import and a DNA identification kit will be required to be completed.

Australian bred horses returning from overseas

Import application
An import application must be submitted upon each entry in to Australia to the Australian Stud Book.
Upon receipt of the Stud Book Certificate of Exportation from the overseas authority the horse will be eligible for Registration if unnamed or racing and breeding purposes if previously Registered in Australia.
